

cadalyst contents

Fall 2011 www.cadalyst.com

cadalystlabsreport

3D Printing

When a digital model just won't do.

features

- 10 techtrends By Heather Livingston
The Sky Is Not the Limit
BIM and software interoperability are helping propel a boom in the construction of supertall skyscrapers.
- 14 cadalystlabsreport By Cyrena Respini-Irwin
Material Worlds
With options that are more diverse and affordable than ever before, 3D printing has seemingly boundless applications for modeling, prototyping, and manufacturing.

columns

- 30 cadmanager By Robert Green
Do We Need a CAD Manager?
Viewing the CAD manager as an ally rather than overhead can give senior managers a business advantage.
- 32 circlesandlines By Lynn Allen
A-rray of Sunshine
New array functionality brightens up AutoCAD 2012.
- 34 userprofile By Nancy Spurling Johnson
Slaying the Dragon
Drafter Adam Sherratt takes on AutoLISP — and wins.

On the cover: The 3D-printed hand model was produced in a single build process on the Objet Connex using two materials that simulate standard plastics. Multi-material prototypes can more closely simulate the appearance and function of complex final products. Image courtesy of Objet.
Cover art direction: Gwen Thomsen Rhoads

cadalystlabsreviews

- 22 firstlook By Art Liddle
Dell Precision M6600 Mobile Workstation
Top-of-the-line unit is powerful enough for everyday use in the office or on the road.
- 23 firstlook By Art Liddle
HP Z210 CMT Workstation
The reasonably priced, entry-level HP Z210 delivers performance more indicative of an upper-midrange system.
- 25 firstlook By Bill Fane
SolidWorks Premium 2012
Latest release adds cost analysis, motion optimization, and the ability to quickly open and review big assemblies.
- 27 firstlook By Scott H. MacKenzie
ArchiCAD 15
New features, including the new Shell tool, aim to improve the 3D modeling experience for architects.
- 29 firstlook By R.K. McSwain
TurboViewer
IMSI/Design's 2D/3D DWG file viewer for the iPad is a handy tool for taking CAD on the road — and it's free.

departments

- 4 editor'swindow
- 7 cadcartoon
- 7 cadcentral
- 8 hottippharry